

ASD

ACTION FOR SUSTAINABLE DERIVATIVES

Action for Sustainable Derivatives (ASD) is an industry-led collaboration aimed at achieving responsible production and sourcing of palm oil derivatives, and expanding into other derivatives

ASD was launched in late 2019 to bring together companies in the cosmetics, home, health and personal care, and oleochemicals industries to collectively address key environmental and social challenges in palm oil and palm kernel oil derivatives supply chains.

ASD's vision is to achieve and promote palm derivatives sourcing that is free from deforestation, respects human rights, and supports local livelihoods. ASD pursues this vision through four workstreams:

Transparency and Risk Assessment

Increasing transparency and consolidating a common framework to focus efforts

Monitoring and Grievances Management

Leveraging dynamic monitoring systems and actively managing non-compliance

Supply and Market Transformation

Engaging the sector and supply chain towards accessible NDPE* solutions

Positive impact

Scaling up long term collective action in key production landscapes

*No Deforestation, No Peat, No Exploitation

Participating companies

Join us

- Derivatives users | Join us
Join ASD to gain access to collective supply chain mapping and monitoring, and to participate in activities to engage priority suppliers, the market and key production landscapes.
- Suppliers | Engage with us
Ensure responsiveness in mapping and engagement.
- Industry stakeholders | Partner with us
Participate in stakeholder engagement processes/ partner on supply chain engagement initiatives. Build alignment so there are clear supply chain signals.

For more information or to join ASD, email asd@bsr.org